Summary

I am a dedicated primary and secondary qualified teacher specialising in the field of English and Humanities. Prior to graduating in 2018, I have been fortunate to be able to work within a school environment for the past 10 years in various capacities as a sports coach, tutor, before and after school care supervisor, teaching aid and now as a proud and passionate teacher.

I am a very passionate, energetic, respectful and supportive person. I am open minded and strive to make a difference in young people's lives with the intention of allowing them to achieve their dreams and become the best that they can be. I am very humorous and enjoy making people laugh whether it is to try and brighten their day or to further build positive relationships between students, parents or colleagues. I am very committed to helping the community and have supported my local football club, both at the senior and junior levels, for the past 7 years and have volunteered as an events organiser and coach for a junior team over the past 2 years.

Professionally, teaching is my life. Enabling students with the determination, passion and confidence to achieve their dreams is the greatest thrill I could ask for. I'm so privileged to have been able to work with some amazing educators, both as teachers and colleagues, and they have inspired me to inspire new generations in the same ways. As an active, adventurous and curious person, I have been effective in delivering prescribed knowledge but with a modern and personal touch. I thrive off the challenge of implementing relevant ICT and STEAM activities into any class I can to ensure students are utilising the most of their time in class and maximising students comprehension and retention of content knowledge.

I am committed, competitive and regularly seeking opportunities to progress myself as an educator and opportunities for self-improvement. I have a great desire to continue teach internationally after teaching as an ESL class in Guatemala in 2019.
